

THE DEMOCRAT.

ALEX. PEARCE, Editor.

McARTHUR into the soil. This is on meadows that you THIRST to plow.

They may be applied in the same way to land which you are going to plow for corn or potatoes.

3. Unleached ashes may be applied to corn after it is up, at the rate of a tablespoonful to a hill, partly as a manure, and partly to arrest the ravages of cut-worms.

4. It may be profitably used as a dressing for strawberry beds in the spring. It should be applied dry, and spaded in. Strawberries love an application of this sort.

5. They may, when unleached, be strewn over crops when growing. Such as grapes, or oats, or other grain. They should be scattered dry.

6. They may be scattered with the seed of winter grain, and will often thus be of great use.

7. They form an excellent dressing for lands, to be used for fruit trees. They contain so much of what is needed for the growth of trees, that a generous application of ashes, plowed in deep, will be beneficial. Trees already set out, may be helped by spading in ashes sparingly about their roots.

8. Applied to clay soil, they soften it. Used on sandy soil, they harden it. Scattered on sour land, they correct its acidity. They are quite generally useful.

PLANTS, TREES, AND ANIMALS, REQUIRE POTASH in their construction. If it is not found in the soil, or has been exhausted by cropping, it must be supplied by an application of ashes. Every acre of wheat requires thirty-pounds of potash; barley, sixty-eight, and red clover one hundred and forty pounds. These crops cannot come to perfection without it, and if nature has not supplied it, a farmer must, or fail in his crops.

ABOUT WHEAT.—When sowed on moist land should be buried deeper than on dry land, to protect the roots from being hove out by the frost. Subsoiling and underdraining is still better; and sweetening the soil by an application of lime, adds still more to the certainty of a good crop on naturally wet land. Rolling the ground as soon as dry enough not to stick to the roller—which will press the earth round the roots which have been hove out by the frost—should finish the operation. It will pay.

SOFT SOAP FOR TREES.—If you have a choice apple-tree, give the body of it a good rubbing with soft-soap this spring. It will clean it, kill the eggs of the worms that are deposited under the bark, and make it smooth and healthy. We take our hand to rub it on with—if any one has a hand too delicate for this purpose, he can use a stiff brush. Such an application will not hurt a poor tree, but it is better not to have any such. It costs no more to have a good apple-tree than a poor one.

OXYGEN.—How few understand the nature, or even the existence of oxygen; and yet it is one of the most important constituents of all created things. It is a colorless gas—has neither taste nor smell—and when inhaled by animals has an exhilarating effect. About one-fifth of the air, eight-ninths of the ocean, and one-half of the solid earth is oxygen. Were it not diluted by nitrogen, everything would be burned by it. It is combustible, itself, but nothing can burn without it. More than one-half of our bodies is composed of this gas.

TO PROTECT CUCUMBERS FROM BUGS.—Lay a couple of bricks, one on each side of the young plant, and then lay a pane of glass on the bricks. It will prove a perfect bug-trap. The poor critters will look through the glass, and weep themselves to death to think they can't get at the tender vine. It will protect, also, against a slight frost.

TOO MANY POTATOES IN A HILL.—Farmers, generally, put too many potatoes in a hill, when planting. One-quarter of the amount of seed usually used, will produce larger and better potatoes, and more in weight. Some say there should be but two eyes planted in a hill; but this, we think, the opposite extreme.

NEVER ALLOW THE MANURE HEAP TO SMOKE.—The escaping smoke is the fertilizing gas, which is wanted, and should be retained for the use of the plants. Plaster, manure, charcoal, or bones, should be spread over it to detain the gases.

NIGHT SOIL.—Night soil is the most valuable fertilizer known. It will increase the productive power of the soil three-fold. If a soil produces ten bushels of wheat to the acre without it, it will produce thirty with it.

by the Black Republicans of everything like the principles which they professed to advocate, that Humphrey Marshall, of Kentucky, a strong pro-slavery Know Nothing, in a speech in the Gazette compliments McClellan, "I would like to know who he was the principles which he was in a canoe, contended for the bank, and having lost in 1850, except cautiously towards him." As soon as they were near him, one of the natives stood up from his crouching position, holding a spear about six feet long, which with one blow he struck through the animal's tail into the sand. A most strenuous contest immediately ensued, the man with the spear holding it in the sand as firmly as his strength allowed him, and clinging to it as it became necessary to shift his position with the agility of a monkey; while his companion occasionally ran in as opportunity offered, and with much dexterity gave the animal a thrust with his long knife, retreating at the same moment from within reach of its rapacious jaws as it whirled round upon the extraordinary pivot placed in its tail. The battle lasted about half an hour, terminating in the slaughter of the alligator, and the triumph of his conquerors, who were not long in cutting him into pieces, and loading their canoes with his flesh, which they immediately carried to the shore, and retailed to their countrymen. It was evident that the success of this plan depended on the nerve and dexterity of the man who pinned the animal's tail to the ground and his contortions and struggles to keep his position were highly ridiculous.

"Well, honest fellow, said a village upstart to a farmer at work in his field, 'tis your business to sow, but we reap the fruits of your labor." "Tis very likely you may," replied the farmer, "for I am sowing hemp."

CATHARTIC PILLS

OPERATE by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action. They remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, and by restoring their regular action to health, correct, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first causes of disease. An extensive trial of their virtues, by Professors Physicians, and Patients, has shown that of the numerous diseases almost beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Their certificates are published in our American Almanac, which the Agents below named are pleased to furnish free to all inquiring.

Annexed we give Directions for their use in the complaints which they have been found to cure. For Constipation.—Take one or two Pills, in such quantity as to gently move the bowels. Constipation is frequently the aggravating cause of Piles, and the cure of one complaint is the cure of both. No person can feel well while under the influence of a constipated bowels. Hence it should, as it can be, promptly relieved.

For Dyspepsia, which is sometimes the cause of Constipation, and always uncomfortable, take mild doses—from one to four—to stimulate the stomach and liver into healthy action. They will do it, and the heartburn, belching, and sourness of dyspepsia will rapidly disappear. When it has gone, don't forget what cured you.

For a Sick Stomach, or Morbid Inaction of the Stomach, which produces general depression of the spirits and bad health, take four to eight Pills at first, and smaller doses afterwards, until activity and strength is restored to the system.

For Nervousness, Sick Headaches, Nausea, Pains in the Stomach, Back, or Side, take from four to eight pills on going to bed. If they do not operate sufficiently, take more the next day until they do. These complaints will be swept out from the system. Don't wear these and their kindred disorders because your stomach is foul.

For Scrofula, Erysipelas, and all Diseases of the Skin, take the Pills freely and frequently, to keep the bowels open. The eruptions will generally soon begin to diminish and disappear. Many dreadful ulcers and sores have been healed up by the purging and purifying effect of these Pills, and some disgusting diseases which seemed to saturate the whole system have completely yielded to the influence, leaving the sufferer in perfect health. Patients! your duty to society forbids that you should parade yourself around the world covered with pimples, blotches, ulcers, sores, and all or any of the ancient diseases of the skin, because your system wants cleansing.

TO PREPARE THE BLOOD, they are the best medicine ever discovered. They should be taken freely and frequently, and the impurities which sow the seeds of incurable diseases will be swept out of the system like chaff before the wind. By this property they do as much good in preventing sickness as by the remarkable cures which they are making every where.

LIVER COMPLAINT, JAUNDICE, and all Bilious Affections arise from some derangement—either torpidity, congestion, or obstructions of the Liver. Torpidity and congestion vitiate the bile and render it unfit for digestion. This is disease. It is the health, and the constitution is frequently undermined by no other cause. Indigestion is the symptom. Obstruction of the duct which empties the bile into the stomach causes the bile to overflow into the blood. This produces Jaundice, a long and dangerous train of evils. Costiveness, or alternately costiveness and diarrhoea, prevails. Feverish symptoms, languor, low spirits, weakness, restlessness, and melancholy, with sometimes inability to sleep, and sometimes great drowsiness, sometimes there is severe pain in the side; the skin and the white of the eyes become a greenish yellow; the stomach aches; the bowels sore to the touch; the whole system irritable, with a tendency to fever, which may turn to bilious fever, bilious colic, bilious diarrhoea, dysentery, &c. A medium dose of three or four Pills taken at night, followed by two or three in the morning, and repeated a few days, will remove the cause of all these troubles. It is wicked to suffer such pains when you can cure them in 25 cents.

RESOLUTION, GOVT. and all Inflammatory Fevers are rapidly cured by the purifying effects of these Pills upon the blood and the stimulus which they afford to the vital principle of Life. For these and all kindred complaints they should be taken in mild doses, to move the bowels gently, and freely.

As a DRINKER PILLS, this is both agreeable and useful. No Pill can be made more pleasant to take and certainly none has been made more effective to the purpose for which a drinker pill is employed.
